Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for per-sistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing ele-ments which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking accord-ing to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Franklin's Birthday Anniversary

Homage will be paid the memory of Benjamin Franklin, American statesman, inventor, captain of industry, diplomat, and philosopher, tomorrow, his birthday anniversary. Schools, civic associations, women's clubs and literary organizations will honor the man whose inventive genius led him to discover new, startling and useful applications of his scientific observations, and whose business acumen enabled him to successfully market his brain-

Franklin secured aid of France for America in the Revolutionary war and helped write the Declaration of Independence. His influence was a factor in keeping together the colonies during the crises of the Revolution. He organized the first anti-slavery society, founded University of Pennsylvania, was the father of United States weather bureau and was responsible for charting the gulf stream. He established the first successful circulating library; discovered that lightning is electricity and subsequently invented the lightning rod. He was the first to develop principles of magnetism; invented near and far vision spectacles, mangle iron, smoke consuming stoves, and copying press for taking copies of manuscripts. He was the editor of the first and most successful newspaper of his time, and advertising as a fundamental force in business was initiated by him. He also helped create the first fire insurance company in America.

As has been remarked, the kind of thrift that has come to be associated with Franklin's name is not really the sort of thrift he practiced. He did not prosper by living up to his own advice, "A penny saved is a penny earned." He indulged in a good man financial plunges. His "thrift" consisted chiefly in a certain canny wisdom which made him plunge more often in sound ventures than unsound ones.

It is perhaps unfortunate that his maxims on this subject have been interpreted so narrowly for many years. But there is a change in sight. Thrift as wise spending is the theory now taught and the practice now advocated.

Owen D. Young, of Dawes Plan fame, has expressed the new viewpoint-which probably was also Franklin's viewpoint-in words well worth studying.

"The old notion that saving is always an economic virtue and broke out with hives when he ate that spending is always an economic crime has, at least, been ques- cooked meat. tioned in our day. If one spends what he should prudently save, his latest Abe Martin book and the advertise and have no chance for a years might be in the offing. But it is that certainly is to be deplored. But if one saves what he should prudently spend, that is not necessarily to be commended. A wise balance between the two, saving enough to keep a plant account adequate to our needs, and spending enough to keep the plant.

The old man with the scythe is say ing that you are about to be present-station like having a door knob come off in your hand is to me about the truest paragraph ever written.

Mississippi Barges

An effort is being made to increase the government's experimental barge service on the lower Mississippi and Warrior rivers. The farmers of that section seem to like it, and so do the business interests that use it. They provide more patronage than Uncle about aimlessly and apparently oblivious of the crowd tagging behind. Sam's Inland Waterways Corporation can take care of Additional Sam's Inland Waterways Corporation can take care of. Additional equipment is wanted.

Enlargement of this government service would mean the investment of more government money. Friends of the experiment argue that that is justified by the corporation's record; it has made Italian who bursts forth into oper- they pilot into the shops. a profit on the investment of $5,000,000 that started the enterprise. Incidentally it is said to have saved shippers more than $2,000,000 in 1926, in reduced freight rates. There is plenty more grain, sugar, ore sisas and other bulky stuff, awaiting water trans- beard. Also the lady who appears portation facilities in that region. Which bring up a problem.

"Of course," say The Country Gentleman, "a government others just wish to be eccentric. Or transportation service means the government in business. And maybe cute. larger appropriations might have the effect of establishing the government in business permanently—an outcome that is contrary to generally prevailing principles and convictions. Yet there stands on the rear platform of an avenue the fact that a very large portion of the country needs the utmost omnibus. Perhaps he fell afoul of the muzzle and leash law or traffic relief that inland waterways transportation can give. The Middle was just too much for him. West, the Northwest and a considerable part of the South are under an oppressive handicap as far as transportation costs are concerned.

"These transportation-handicapped sections have a case that merits the fullest consideration. It makes imperative a definite policy of inland waterways development."

Public Utilities

Last year the gross revenue of the public utilities companies in this country, not including railroads and bus lines, broke all records, exceeding $5,000,000,000.

Evidently the familiar public utilities are doing better than a good many people have supposed. These figures do not give much support to the fear that they are about to be driven out of business by public ownership or lack of patronage.

The investing public, too, has shown no lack of confidence in them. They got 38 per cent of the $7,000,000,000 of new corporate financing last year.

It is an impressive fact that the leader in this utility group is the electric light and power industry, which got more than onethird of the total revenue and more than two-thirds of the new investment funds.

The members of the group rank in this order: Electric light and power, street railways, telephone, manufactured gas, natural gas, telegraph and miscellaneous. The first is running away from the rest.

The question is raised whether the electric industry can maintain its big lead. It is expected to do so, because industries in general are requiring more and more electric power, the rapidly growing use of domestic electrical appliances is yet in its infancy, and most of the rural population is "not yet electrified."

Attempt to Repeal Prohibition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16-Friend and foe of the dry cause came forward today-the eighth annversary of prohibition - some with flowers, some with bricks.

Senator Willis (R) of Ohio, one of the outstanding drys on Capitol hill presidential nomination. broadcast this warning to "all con-

"It is unthinkable that the amendment shall be permitted to be nullified, directly or indirectly.
"If citizens and officials will give their attention, not to work out means where the law can be evaded, but to the development of the idea of obed ience to law and respect for the con stitution, the problem will be solved much more easily and quickly.'

Willis said that the 18th Amendment and Volstead act had not accomplished everything that their friends and proponents had hoped, but they have met with a large measure of success.

"A majority of the nation's citizenship is puzzled as it seeks a motive for the joyous acclamations breadcast by prohibitionists at this anniversary of national prohibition," declared William H. Saxton, head of the association against the prohibition amend-ment, the leading wet organization.

DYSKI-NESIA

Dyskinesia or habitual constipation wrecks more health every day than any other single thing. It saps strength and vitality, causes serious diseases of the stomach, kidneys and heart, brings on high blood pressure and makes you old years before your time. before your time.

The insidious condition of Dyskinesia is the result of our abnormal habits of living which place too great a strain upon the vital or-gans, especially the liver. The liver becoming weak or sluggish fails to supply the bowels enough bile. The bowels "tie up" and the poisonous waste retained affects the whole system including the vital organs. The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men now know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to internal cleanliness and health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few soon tell.

World War Background to Hard-Boiled Haggerty."

The Wo.ld war provides enjoyable color and flavor for Milton Silis' latest First National Pictures' stellar vehicle, "Hard-Boiled Haggerty," at the American theatre.

An exceptionally powerful characterization is provided for the rugged terization is provided for the rugged star in "Hard-Boiled Haggerty," which Carey Wilson adapted from Elliott White Springs' magazine story, "Belated Evidence." Wid Gunning produced the picture for First National and Charles Brabin directed it.

The war scenes, hesides providing some spine-tickling thrills early in the picture and a colorful atmosphere for the Parisian scenences which follow the Parisian sequences which follow it, are cleverly used to develop "Hag-gerty's" character. He is a thorough ly tough, case-hardened "ace" of American air-fighting forces, heroic in action, but humorously insubordinate and frolicsome in Parisian carous als behind the lines.

Celebrating a victory over a German plane with his "buddy," Klaxon, and, as usual, "A. W. O. L." in Paris, the hero meets his romantic fate in the person of a French girl, who conceals him from pursuing municipal policemen. That is the beginning of a very effective and pleasing romance which forms the high light of the pic

Molly O'Day, a brilliant new light among leading women, plays opposite Sills, and Arthur Stone of vaudeville comedy fame, takes the role of "Klax-on," the star's comedy "buddy."

The picture bubbles with comedy and Sills himself takes part in a great deal of the fun. Real drama is developed in a sequence wherein Hagger ty's kindly major mistakes the hero-ine for a French girl and warns him against her, the ensuing fight between the men and a court martial proceeding, in which the major and the girl sacrifice themselves to protect the Rickard Announces June 7 or 14 as Possible Dates.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.-Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney are going through with the third act of that well known drama, "the battle of the century," and in New York. Last night Tex Rickard admitted that it would be Gene and Jack again, and that the Yankee stadium would be the scene of the conflict, with June 7 or 14 as the date.

Facts all lend weight to this statement. The Yankees will be away on a long road trip at the time. Dempsey is training in California and has already announced that he would like a crack at Tunney, but couldn't be bothered with any elimination tourney.

Jack Sharkey temporarily eased himself out of the heavyweight picture with his poor showing against Tom Rickard will not admit that he and

Tunney have come to an agreement on either opponents or dates, but said he will talk with the champion in the

Two Bouts for Tunney.

Rickard said he hoped to arrange two bouts for Tunney, one to be held in June at the Yankee stadium with Dempsey as the challenging foe, and the other in September at a place undecided upon and with an opponent as yet unknown.

The promoter admitted that he had held several conferences with Tunney recently. He expects to see Gene soon and come to definite understanding. Nothing, however, would be officially announced until February 1, he said, and any stories that might be sprung before then would be the well-known "bunkum."

As for that unknown opponent in the September battle, Rickard declared he hadn't the slightest idea what the developments would be. The Sharkey-Heeney affair didn't help a bit in his elimination program, accord-

"I would be pleased if Tunney would agree that one heavyweight fight a year is enough," Rickard said.

'BUSH LEAGUER'

Monte Blue's Picture Rings Bell at Strand.

Monte Blue's starring vehicle, "The Bush Leaguer," at the Strand, is an aproarious version of the old story of the ugly duckling who became the swan. It was the style in the little Idaho village which was "Specs" White's home, to razz the lad, to speak lightly of the gas pump which he had invented and on which he meant to make a fortune one day. But Specs played ball with the bush league team, on the sand lot next his gas station, and played so well that a scout for a Los Angeles team urged him to come on to that famous city for a try-out.

Specs may not have listened to the stranger but for the fact that a certain pretty young lady, having stopped at the station to get her gasoline replenished, had smiled at him, and whirled away, losing her license tag. Specs had found it, read its inscrip-tion, "Los Angeles, etc.," and determined to set out on quest of the lady where upon the chance offered.

Here was the opportunity. To Los Angeles he went, and, unmercifully ridiculed by Skeeter McKinnon the catcher, and others, he lost all the catcher, and others, he lost all the knack he had displayed on the home town lot. It was here that the pretty lady again bobbed up, smiled on Specs, revived his fainting courage, spurred him on to win the game and to foil the attempt of her manager (for he it known, the fair one owned the team on which Specs played) in his attempt at dirty work.

"The Bush Leaguer" is a wholesome amusing and wonderfully human piece. Monte Blue, who has endeared himself to so many millions, as every sort of red-blooded hero, outdoes even himself, in this new role.
